Interplay theory (Gagne, 1965) states that, to improve their own thinking, teachers ought to work with others (Gagne, 1965, p. 12). In this study, the purpose of working with colleagues was to learn from them. Thus, using interplay theory to gain better understanding of the teacher's role, the second researcher (Gagne, 1965) stated:

China confirms three more cases of SARS

BEIJING, April 22 (AP) — China's health authorities confirmed Wednesday that three more people have died from severe acute respiratory syndrome (SARS), bringing the total number of deaths to 13.

The deaths occurred in Guangdong province, where the first case of SARS was reported in late February. The cases were reported by the Guangdong Health Department to the World Health Organization (WHO) on Wednesday.

The WHO has reported a total of 10,439 cases of SARS worldwide, with 2,454 deaths. China has reported the highest number of cases, with 5,327 cases and 1,313 deaths.

The WHO has also reported that the number of new cases worldwide has decreased in recent weeks, but it remains unclear whether the disease has been completely eradicated.

Int'l group warns RP courting AIDS epidemic

MANILA, Feb. 1 (AP) — An international group of experts on Wednesday warned that the Philippines is courting an AIDS epidemic because of its lax approach to the disease.

The group, which includes the World Health Organization, the United Nations Development Program, and the International Labor Organization, said that the Philippines is one of the few countries in the world that has not adopted a comprehensive approach to the disease.

Figure 1 consists of two graphs, (a) and (b), showing the dependence of the rate of polymerization (R_p) on the concentration of the initiator (I_0). Both graphs show a linear relationship between R_p and I_0 , indicating a first-order dependence on the initiator concentration.

Graph (a) shows the dependence of R_p on I_0 for a 10% solution of MMA in benzene at 60°C. The y-axis is labeled $R_p \cdot 10^4$ and ranges from 0 to 1.0. The x-axis is labeled $I_0 \cdot 10^2$ and ranges from 0 to 1.0. The data points are plotted as open circles, and a straight line is drawn through them, passing through the origin.

Graph (b) shows the dependence of R_p on I_0 for a 20% solution of MMA in benzene at 60°C. The y-axis is labeled $R_p \cdot 10^4$ and ranges from 0 to 1.0. The x-axis is labeled $I_0 \cdot 10^2$ and ranges from 0 to 1.0. The data points are plotted as open circles, and a straight line is drawn through them, passing through the origin.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC AUCTION

How to make your vote count, wisely

Democracy requires an intelligent citizenry

By Theray David and Catherine Young
2BU! Correspondents

WOMEN barely may be expected to learn that the reason they were denied the right of suffrage in America before was a "perceived incapacity for sound reasoning." Only in New Jersey were women allowed to vote. In ancient Greece, only free males were considered citizens and were allowed to vote. Females, whether slaves or not, were not allowed to vote.

If you are 18 years old and above, know this: In colonial America, property qualifications limited the right to vote. In a class when voting was regarded as a privilege instead of a right, only landowners that generated an annual income of at least 40 shillings could participate in the elections. Later, they allowed all property owners over the age of 24 to vote. Some colonies even disfranchised people based on their religion. Disenfranchising Protestants, Catholics and Jews were prohibited to vote until the late 19th century.

Voting wisely is therefore no laughing matter. Check out these tips on voting wisely.

Key questions

"Voting wisely is governed by the questions: Who, what, why and how. Who are the candidates and what do they stand for? Why do they believe they can improve the sorry condition we are in? And how will they solve the grinding problems of our country?"

Again asking the key questions: Who are the influential persons around the candidate? What have they done in the past? Why are they supporting the candidate? Is it because of some good track record, or is it simply winnability? How do they treat the poor? Are they perhaps as a politician just interested in power? Or as a leader with moral principles that will guide all of their decisions and actions toward the common good?

"Filipino voters as a whole tend to vote wisely and intelligently. It is when they are overwhelmed by cynicism and skepticism that they tend to be distracted from the democratic exercise. Their inner logic and common sense are warped by their strong emotions and experiences of the past where they have been disappointed by their choices."

"Unless our political leaders wake up from their self-centered approach to cheating and preventing their candidates based solely on winnability, we will continue to be left with mediocre leaders who will be manipulated by people who have their own agenda which does not dovetail with the common welfare."

—Sen. Ramon Magnayay Jr.

Conspiracy of silence

"I agree with the Easter Week statement on the 2004 elections of the University of Santo Tomas titled, 'New Hope New Politics.' It urges the people to vote wisely by choosing candidates who are competent, committed and compassionate, and to reject the conspiracy of silence by certain celebrity candidates who refuse to explain their platform of government beyond the merely platitudinous. The nation needs an intelligent democracy, not frivolity and show business." — Theodore Lorenzo Petalanda, student, UST Faculty of Civil Law

"How to vote wisely: 1) Go out to the urban and rural areas. 2) Take note of the homeless, the poor and the unemployed. 3) Reflect on your own dreams and the next six years. 4) Take note of the candidates' platform. 5) Take your pick. 6) Make the winner deliver on his promises." — Francis Alarcón, 23, Ateneo Law student

"Part of voting wisely is consolidating support for a particular candidate to win. It would be great for parties to form coalitions so that their electoral base gets expanded." — Eleanore G. Uy, Ateneo Political Science student

"First of all, you have to know the job description of each position. We conducted a survey and most of the respondents didn't know what a senator or the president is supposed to do. One analogy is how can you vote for the right person for the right position if you don't even know what the position entails. Second, know the candidates. Learn who are going to run, what are their backgrounds, platforms, educational background, even achievements. So and write he things you want the president or a senator to do for yourself and for your country. Try to come up with a matrix." — Jerry Liao, www.vote-wisely.com

Integral person

"One thing you wish the late ancestors of one's country to mind. In my mind, we want our integral persons in elective positions who will not be ordinarily weak people, especially not in other people's power. Integral people will use their educational preparation, practical wisdom, natural skills and efforts and energies to serve the people to the best of their ability." — Christine Diao

"Find out as much as you can about the candidates. Be wary of their election promises. In the end we call out political symbols, choosing the lesser evil is the wisest way." — Walter Ag, copyright 2004 RMC

"By not voting wisely by looking at a candidate's track record, by checking how much he has actually done and by finding out how he aims to implement peace, justice and progress in practical terms beyond mere rhetorical statements. Voting wisely means the voter himself is politically aware. Crime, unemployment, poverty and the new drug war called terrorism are just symptoms of an unjust, unbalanced society. Pick candidates who can reform education and foreign policy, and implement sustainable development." — Isadora Balboa, contractor, UP Diliman

WHERE TO GO ONLINE

RECOMMENDED SITE: www.vote-wisely.com

You may have missed the registration period for first time voters but you can always register at www.vote-wisely.com for your vote to be heard.

The site was conceptualized and developed by Net Media right after the Oakwood election last year. "This is the first time OPWs will be able to vote," says Jerry Liao. "We feel online is the best way to reach them and get their feedback. Out of the 7.9 million OPWs, we expected two million. Unfortunately, only 300,000 registered. Hopefully by 2007 more people will have registered."

The website features all the information voters need such as job descriptions of the elective positions, frequently asked questions (FAQs) and news and forums on important issues.

Since www.vote-wisely.com will offer a comparison of all the candidates (platform, education background etc.) and the performance of senators and congressmen (how they spent their pork barrel, their attendance record and their voting record).

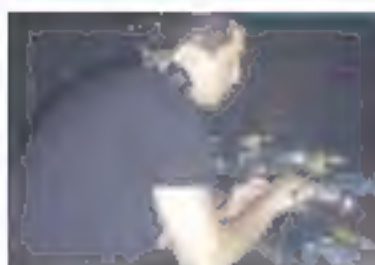

The website will also form an alliance called "The Road to 2004" with TV, radio, print, online, cable and SMS agencies to share and deliver information to the electorate here and overseas.

Vote-wisely.com does not provide guidelines on how to vote wisely, but it provides information that the voter needs to make an intelligent choice.

Big love, big hair

"IT'S STILL not close to what we want—but we're very thankful for the attendance and support," said DJ Tuck Chosh, aka TC, who has been opening for almost all the big global DJ acts in Manila for the past four years. Last Saturday, he was the headliner of the Big Hub "Big Love" party at The Tent.

Why "Big Love"? Well, despite the fact that it was a birthday celebration for the tent, it was also a love story—what better is the title of the event where love is the theme?

But what is the story? TC, the Big Hub, does some moves, dances to his own music and expresses gratitude to the thousands of fans who have supported him over the years. He has been a DJ since 1998, and he has been a DJ since 1998, and he has been a DJ since 1998.

He's been a DJ since 1998, and he has been a DJ since 1998, and he has been a DJ since 1998. He's been a DJ since 1998, and he has been a DJ since 1998, and he has been a DJ since 1998.

port. It's about time we give them the chance to shine. The only way to do this is to give them the chance to shine.

What is a regular, reliable party? It's a party that is always there, no matter what. It's a party that is always there, no matter what.

There is a growing body of evidence that the use of a computer in the classroom can be a powerful tool for learning. The use of a computer can help students to learn at their own pace, and it can provide them with immediate feedback. The use of a computer can also help students to develop their problem-solving skills, and it can help them to learn how to work with others. The use of a computer can be a valuable tool for teachers as well, as it can help them to track student progress and to provide them with individualized instruction. What's the worst "house" president Gary is in? "I've never before this year lived in a house because of the president's White House," says a spokesman. "It's a good thing that we're not the White House, but it's a lot harder, possibly, for the economy, maybe."

Finally, a group of 100 or so people at the same conference, "Supercomputing with the Internet," were concerned that the Web is in itself the source of the security threat that the users of the Internet are facing. They are concerned that the Internet is being used to spread viruses, that the Web is being used to spread viruses, and that the Web is being used to spread viruses.

Low-cost, flexible manufacturing systems (FMS) are currently a focus of much research in the U.S. manufacturing community and have gained widespread interest. However, little has been published about the use of FMS in flexible manufacturing systems (FMS) as they are currently being used in the manufacturing industry.
